

COS 300

PROFESSIONAL PREPARATION FOR STEM DISCIPLINES

ONLINE FALL
AUGUST 23 -
DECEMBER 15
2021

MASON IMPACT

RESEARCH. WRITE. COMMUNICATE. INNOVATE.

Enhance your career readiness in STEM through this innovative, project-based 3-credit course. Master CVs, scientific and proposal writing, STEM communication/presentation, and digital media skills required for success in graduate school and the workplace through in-depth research on a global STEM challenge of your choice.

Mason Impact Course: Research & Creative Activities.
Flexible, Asynchronous Online Format.

Visit the catalog for more information.

COS 300 is an elective as well as a core course for the new COS minor: Scientific Leadership and Practice, a 16-20 credit minor focused on building the skills most sought after by today's employers.

College of Science