New FLSA Minimum Salary

Effective 1/1/2020, the Department of Labor increased the minimum salary needed to qualify as an FLSA Exempt employee from $23,660 to $35,568 annually ($684 weekly). Research Faculty must be Exempt from earning overtime and their salary must meet this requirement.

Previously, Mason interpreted that minimum salary to exclude reduced FTE (i.e. someone making $35,000 at 0.5 FTE would not be acceptable).

Mason changed their interpretation to account for the 1.0 FTE equivalent salary (i.e. a research faculty member making at least $35,568 at 1.0 FTE equivalent salary is allowed).

EWP Collection Process

We have been compiling the EWPs and PDs requested by Central HR, and are now reaching out to D2 members in the units with questions about missing files and outdated information.

Mason's Expansion of Telework

Supporting Employees through the Transition

The university has issued a telework mandate for all faculty and staff, except for those who need to work on campus to continue critical functions. Per a recent message from Mason's VP of Human Resources and Payroll, the goal is to keep as many employees working as productively and safely as possible. This expansion also applies to student assistants and student wage employees.

The usage of the Public Health Emergency Leave (PHEL) has been expanded to cover cases where telework or the suggested alternatives are not possible. All employees, including wage, student wage, and adjuncts, have access to a maximum of 80 hours, or a pro-rated amount based on the number of hours an employee is normally scheduled to work. The maximum amount of PHEL paid leave must not exceed the maximum number of hours an employee would normally work each week.

If an employee has exhausted this leave, they can contact benefits@gmu.edu. Mason is hoping that additional leave relief will be provided. For the latest information, please refer to the updated PHEL Guidelines.

We are here to support you! As we continue to receive updates, feel free to reach out with any questions or concerns. In the meantime, here are some helpful links from Mason as well as the College of Science:
