

EVPP 436-001

The Human Dimensions of Global Climate Change: From Encounters to Actions

INSTRUCTOR:
V. Prasad

Spring 2022
3 CREDITS

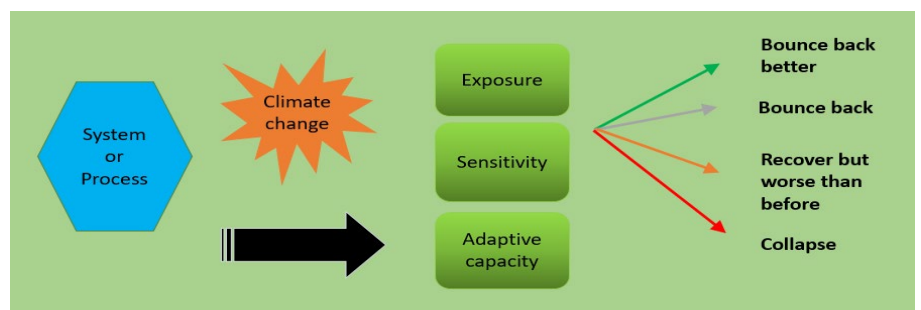

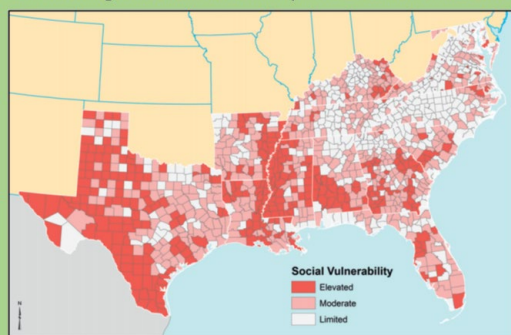

Tuesdays
4:30-7:10 PM
INNOVATION 317

In this course, we will investigate academia's role(s) in global climate change issues, with a focus on the social sciences. You will gain an in-depth knowledge of the diverse ecological, cultural, and policy issues of global climate change.

You will be fluent in the current science of global climate change, including causes and necessary responses, global climate change's human rights and social justice issues, the vulnerability to global climate change of place-based/marginalized populations at home and abroad.

Climate change and social vulnerability in the Southern United States

Department of Environmental Science and Policy

