Interactive course covers the chemistry concepts organizing our world and those behind environmental issues and enhances science communication skills. Perfect for students with public health, engineering, IT, communications, policy and other backgrounds.