

GEORGE MASON UNIVERSITY
COLLEGE OF SCIENCE
BIOLOGY DEPARTMENT SEMINAR
Spring 2015

Andimile Martin

New Century College, George Mason University;
International Elephant Foundation & Elephant Research
Foundation M. Philip Kahl Postdoctoral Fellow

“Mitigating the impact of bushmeat extraction in Eastern Africa”

Bushmeat extraction is rampant around protected areas in Africa. It is believed to be an important driver of population declines of both herbivores and carnivores. I will discuss some measures I have been involved of in resolving bush meat problem in eastern Africa. We have been funded by the USFWS Wildlife without Borders-Africa through the Bushmeat-free Eastern Africa Network (BEAN).

TUESDAY April 7, 2015

3:00-4:15 PM

Johnson Center Meeting Room F