COURSE OBJECTIVES

This is an advanced multidisciplinary course centered on stress and anxiety. Relationships between body and mind are emphasized. The first portion of the course covers nuts and bolts about the neurobiology associated with thoughts, feelings, and actions. The second third of the course defines important terms and discusses the basics of mind-body connections. The latter third of the course focuses on interactions between cognition and emotion and finishes with a holistic approach to living a healthier life. The course is lecture-based with some online videos.

EDUCATION MODE

This class will be delivered in person!

TEXTBOOK

There is no textbook to purchase. Course material is derived from Neuroscience 6e (Purves et al) and a six-hour seminar delivered by the instructor to healthcare providers. The syllabus for this course, Calming an Overactive Brain, will be distributed via BlackBoard. All other reading materials are primary research manuscripts and review articles also be available at Blackboard. Two talks by Dr. Robert Sapolsky (Stanford Neurobiologist) will be the substance of one of the lectures.

GRADING

Exams

There are a total of three scheduled exams, one being a final examination. Exam 1 is worth 20% of the final grade. Exams 2 is worth 30% of the final grade. Exams 3 is worth 40% of the final grade. The final exam is NOT cumulative. There are no make-up exams. Changes to exam dates or times or make-up exams are not allowed unless the student has written medical documentation. Medical documentation for a family member or friend is not sufficient to request a make-up exam. Please do not put the instructor in a difficult position by missing an exam and requesting a make-up without written medical documentation.

Presentations

Each student is required to deliver one very short presentation (approximately five minutes) on a topic related to the course that is scheduled with the instructor at least one week in advance. The instructor must approve the topic and presentation contents prior to the presentation. The presentation counts for 10% of your final grade. Student presentation dates are April 5th and April 7th. There are no make-up presentations.

GRADING POLICY

A score of 90% or above generally results in a grade of A- or above, 80-89% corresponds to a B- or above, 70-79% results in a C- or above, and 65-69% results in a D. For undergraduates, a final grade below 65 is a failing grade. For graduate students, any final grade below 80 is a failing grade. These number-to-letter grade conversions serve as a guideline and are not absolute. The final grades may be determined on a curve if this is in the students' favor and justified in the opinion of the instructor.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

GMU is an Honor Code university. Please see the University Catalog for a full description of the code and the honor committee process. Academic integrity is taken very seriously. When you are responsible for a task, you will perform that task. When you rely on someone else's work in an aspect of the performance of that task, you will give full credit in the proper, accepted form. Another aspect of academic integrity is the free exchange of ideas regardless of gender, race, ability, or age. Vigorous discussion and debate are encouraged with the firm expectation that all aspects of the class will be conducted with civility and respect for differing ideas, perspectives, and traditions. When in doubt (of any kind) please ask for guidance and clarification.
